32nd FLORIDA CRICKET QUADRANGULAR & DINNER DANCE

Welcome

For more than three decades, the Florida Cricket Quadrangular has been much more than a cricket tournament. It has been a tradition — one that has brought Sri Lankans together through our shared love of the game, our culture, our friendships, and the memories we continue to create as a community.

What began 32 years ago has grown into an enduring celebration of Sri Lankan fellowship in Florida. Through the years, players have taken the field, families have gathered on the sidelines, friendships have been formed, and generations have come together around a game that holds such a special place in our hearts.

Tonight, we celebrate that remarkable journey.

We celebrate those who started this tradition and the many individuals who have carried it forward. We recognize the players, organizers, volunteers, sponsors, families, and friends whose commitment has allowed this event to continue and flourish year after year.

We also celebrate something even greater than cricket — our diversity as Sri Lankans. Our community represents different cultures, ethnicities, languages, faiths, and generations, yet events such as this remind us of everything we share. Far from the island many of us call home, traditions like these keep us connected to our roots while creating new memories here in Florida.

And perhaps most importantly, we look to the future. As another generation grows up around this tournament, we hope they inherit not simply a sporting event, but the friendships, traditions, sense of community, and Sri Lankan spirit that have sustained it for 32 years.

Tonight, as the cricket gives way to music, dinner, dancing, laughter, and celebration, we invite everyone to enjoy the company of old friends, welcome new ones, and celebrate the community we have built together.

Here's to 32 years of cricket, friendship, tradition, and community — and to many more still to come.

Welcome to the 32nd Florida Cricket Quadrangular & Dinner Dance.

Ayubowan • Vanakkam • Welcome

History of FLORIDA SRI LANKAN CRICKET QUADRANGULAR

The small Sri Lankan American community lives scattered around the State of Florida. In the early days many in this community organized picnics or gatherings to extend a sense of fellowship and goodwill. This was the modus operandi to introduce new residents of this community to the existing members in each city. However, there was major gap in Sri Lankans from different cities getting to know each other.

In 1995 first quadrangular tournament was held at Okeechee Park in West Palm Beach. This was the first event where Sri Lankans from different parts of the state got together under the guise of the Sri Lankan Cricket Quadrangular. The original members of this community sponsored trophies as a way of encouragement to the spirit of fellowship.

This tournament which was played with a tennis ball had children and ladies playing for some teams. The people from West Palm Beach hosted a great tournament, and organized lunch consisting of many Sri Lankan delicacies. Subsequently Orlando, Tampa and Miami hosted each of the quadrangular respectively.

Though the cricket tournament was successful, there was a vacuum for those who did not participate in the game or become active "cheerleaders". To address that issue some cities conducted children's events or tennis games.

The cricket tournament created a sense of competitiveness among the cities the competitive spirit appeared to mask the foundation of fellowship. A need was felt to get every one to meet, dine and dance baila in old Sri Lankan way.

Orlando hosted the first get together at Ramada Resort in the new millennium. The tickets were priced at a low 10 dollars per person with a hotel for 30 dollars per room. The later years Tampa, Miami and West Palm Beach followed to host the events in rotation.

We wish to extend our sincere gratitude for the hard work and sleepless nights that the small Sri Lankan community in Florida is devoting towards this event.

Best Wishes TO ANNUAL QUADRANGULAR CRICKET TOURNAMENT AND DINNER DANCE

Wishing all teams great success,
every guest a memorable evening,
and our community many more years of togetherness.

Message from ROY SILVA

Former Sri Lanka and USA Cricketer,
Owner & Director of Cricket, Galle Gallants,
2026 LPL Winner

It is my great pleasure and privilege to extend my warmest greetings and best wishes to everyone taking part in this year's Sri Lankan Community Cricket Event in Florida.

Cricket has always been much more than a game for us Sri Lankans. Wherever we may live in the world, cricket has a unique way of bringing our community together, creating friendships and keeping alive the traditions and spirit of our beloved homeland.

This event is a wonderful opportunity not only to enjoy the game we all love, but also to come together with family and friends, share our food and traditions, enjoy the celebrations and create memories that will last for years to come. It is particularly encouraging to see the younger generation participating and experiencing the wonderful Sri Lankan spirit that has always been so closely connected with our cricket and culture.

While healthy competition is an important part of sport, I hope the true spirit of this event will always be friendship, fellowship, sportsmanship and togetherness. At the end of the day, the greatest reward is not simply winning a trophy, but the friendships we build and the memories we create along the way.

My sincere appreciation goes to the organizers, players, volunteers, sponsors and everyone who has worked hard to make this annual celebration possible. Your efforts help bring the Sri Lankan community closer and keep our traditions alive here in Florida.

I wish everyone a wonderful and memorable event. Play hard, play fair, enjoy the celebrations, and most importantly, continue to cherish the Sri Lankan spirit that brings us together.

Best Wishes,

Roy Silva

Wherever We Go, Cricket Comes with Us

Somewhere in Tampa, at an hour when most of the world is still asleep, a living room glows blue and gold. A man in his forties sits on the edge of the couch, a cup of tea slowly going cold in his hands. He leans toward the television, talking quietly to the screen as if the Sri Lankan openers might hear him. Upstairs, his wife and children are asleep. Downstairs, he is watching the third day of a Test match in Galle—and there is nowhere else he would rather be.

He is Sri Lankan American. He is a die-hard cricket fan. And he is far from alone.

Sri Lankans came to America for many reasons—some as students, engineers, and doctors, others as refugees during the difficult years of the civil war. They built new lives here, celebrated Thanksgiving and the Fourth of July, raised families, and watched their children grow up more comfortable speaking English than Sinhala or Tamil.

But one thing many never let go of was cricket.

It was more than a sport. It was a connection to home. It brought back memories of school days, Sunday afternoons, family gatherings, and long conversations about matches. In a new country, cricket was a little piece of Sri Lanka they could carry with them.

For many Sri Lankan Americans, especially those now in their forties and fifties, everything comes back to 1996. Ask them where they were when Arjuna Ranatunga's team won the World Cup in Lahore, and they will probably remember more than the match. They remember who they watched it with, what they ate, and how they felt. Sri Lanka, a small island often overshadowed by cricket's bigger nations, had become world champions.

Sanath Jayasuriya changed the way opening batsmen approached the game, while Muttiah Muralitharan would go on to take an astonishing 800 Test wickets. For Sri Lankans watching from American homes thousands of miles away, the World Cup was about more than cricket. It was a moment of immense pride—a reminder that the little island we came from could stand alongside the best in the world.

Being a cricket fan in America has always required a little dedication. A match in Colombo might mean setting an alarm for four in the morning in Tampa. You make a cup of tea, try not to wake anyone, and settle in. WhatsApp groups come alive when a wicket falls, with messages and voice notes flying back and forth in Sinhala, Tamil, and English.

And when Sri Lanka tours somewhere within reach, fans make the effort to be there. They fly to England or the Caribbean, put on their Sri Lankan jerseys, and cheer as loudly as they can—even when the crowd around them is much bigger.

Now there is another generation growing up with the game. These children may look completely American. They play soccer, baseball, or basketball, eat pizza, go to American schools, but many are discovering cricket too.

Sometimes it starts in the backyard, with a tennis ball and a parent showing them how to hold a bat. Here in Florida, some go on to play in the Annual SLAM Junior League Cricket Tournament. What might have started as a game with Dad has become something they genuinely love. And things are changing. Major League Cricket arrived in 2023, and World Cup matches have been played in Texas, Florida, and New York. Cricket is becoming more visible, and perhaps a little more at home in America.

Maybe one day we won't have to explain cricket to anyone. Maybe it will simply be another sport people grow up watching and playing. But even if that day takes a long time, I think those early-morning living rooms will always be part of our story. Because being a cricket fan was never really about convenience. It was about belonging to something bigger than yourself. It was about eleven men in blue playing thousands of miles away while you sat in Tampa, holding your breath with every delivery. Distance never stopped us from loving the game. If anything, it made us love it more.

THANKS

An event like this is only possible through the dedication, generosity and support of many wonderful people.

Our heartfelt appreciation goes to our organizers — Shriyan, Kalum, Gihan, Shamila, Kishan, and Sharm — for the countless hours, ideas, coordination, and commitment that went into bringing this special event together.

A very special thank you to Nirodha and Ranjit, along with everyone involved in organizing the cricket tournament and activities. Your hard work and passion have been an important part of making this celebration a success.

We are deeply grateful to all our volunteers and the entire Tampa community who stepped forward to help in so many ways. Whether behind the scenes or on the day of the event, every contribution has made a difference.

A special word of appreciation goes to Senaka from Miami for his tremendous support with ticket sales and for helping us reach and bring together our wider community.

And finally, thank you to everyone who attended, supported, sponsored, volunteered, played, and celebrated with us. Your presence and enthusiasm are what make this tradition meaningful.

Together, we continue to celebrate our heritage, strengthen our friendships, and keep our community traditions alive for generations to come.
